

TOP TIPS FOR STAYING FOCUSED

Avoiding distractions and keeping on track for better results

Allow yourself to set boundaries

Learn to say 'no' more often and ALWAYS leave at least 10 minutes between meetings.

Unplug at the weekend

Periods of psychological detachment from work boosts concentration levels and prevents burnout.

Compartmentalise your tasks

Allocate time for your wellbeing, write a to-do list every morning and make time for family.

Shift your expectations

Our perception of life has shifted - this time is all about adapting to new boundaries and limitations

Pick one top priority each morning

For highly motivated people the key to getting more done is to focus on less

Don't eliminate your 'alone' time

Our body and brain has to adjust to more intense activity - move forward at your own pace.

Stay active!

Work out, see friends and family, get fresh air - our body and mind is much more at ease when we are active

Take time to recharge

Book the ticket, take the trip, see the show. Deadlines and to-do lists will still be there when you get back.
